NOTE: Acres protected represent the best available data for the number of acres under protection in each respective category through December 2017. Some categories are subject to change as better technology and data become available to quantify lands protected through regulation.

* The resource protection zone, forest conservation easements, and stream buffers in the Critical Area have been reduced by the amount of overlap with other categories of protected lands. For forest conservation easements, an overlap of 10% for on-site easements and 90% for off-site easements has been deducted from the total acreage. For all other categories, overlap was assessed through GIS mapping.
